FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY, NOV. 23-6 P. M. There is a return of steadiness and buoyancy to the stock market as a consequence of the elimination Fig. Prices to-day maintained an equanimity in nee of easy money, which is an unmistakable sign that a healthier tone has been imparted to business by the disastrous effects of the wind speculation preby the disastrons eneces to the wind spectration pre-vailing within the past two months. Transactions to-day were cautious yet active, but without enthu-stain. The question of striking the stock of the Brie Railway Company from the stock list came before the respective committees of each board, but was postponed to Wednesday next for further consideration. The petition is still in circulation and has received a large addition of signatures. It is also suggested to have the stocks of other corporations likewise registered as a condition to their continuance on the stock list. The legal proceedings in the Eric case create a great deal of interest, and a rumor is affect night that the clique are conveying their papers and effects across the river to Jersey City. The stock was almost neglected to-day. The few transactions m it took place between 40% and 42%. The demontrations against other stocks by the clique have en through. When it became known that they were almost without money and were unable to dis-pose of the load of Erie in their tin boxes the street as quick to perceive that they were powerless to make any new movement, and consequently aban-toned those stocks which were supposed to be on the programme for a "corner." The favorable condition of the money market, as shown by the bank statement, is sumulating speculation, and a "bull" market for stocks is prophesied. As yet this feeling is not without restraint, and the rise in stocks to-day s not commensurate with the ease in money. The business at all the boards was well distributed over the general list. New York Central was perhaps the most active. Pacific Mail rose as high as 118 on the strength of a report of a regular dividend hereafter. t declined later in the day to 116%. Hudson River was a favorite and was quoted as high as 128. St. Paul emerged from the comparative obscurity to which its cent. Fort Wayne assumed something of its old respectability and was quoted over 110 after the ards. Ohio and Mississippt went over 31, while Mock Island, which was pushed because it was said the clique were going to take hold of it, receded to 196% a 107. The Northwestern stocks were steady. Express stocks recovered from the depression of Saturday night as a consequence of the withdrawal of the "bear" influence then at work. A meeting of the various companies was held to-day, but nothing further done toward an adjustment of their rival in terests. Cumberland, which quietly progressed during the recent excitement, is now quoted

Gold opened weak at 13414 and declined to 134. The government sale bereft the market of strength. Liter twelve o'clock there was a sudden recovery in the price to 134% on account of the firmness of exchange. There was also a sudden impetus given to the borrowing demand, and the rate changed from fat and one and two per cent to 1-64 and 1-32. After the board the price yielded, but recovered about five o'clock, when the quotation stood 134% a 134%. The government gold brought 133.89. The gross clearings were $38,240,000, the gold balances $1,461,452 and the currency balances $2,071,064-which figures evince the general duiness of the market. The range in price shown in the table:-

was to be had in abundance at the latter rate on ordinary collaterals.

The government market was strong and active throughout the day, partially in consequence of a large home demand and partially on account of a large inquiry from the Island of Cuba, where, on account of the unsettled state of political sifairs, our pational securities and particularly the registered bonds, have suddenly become favorites. The home demand was largely augmented by a "covering" on crisis. There is a considerable diversion to them of tale money which the owners hesitate to embark in that the appreciation which should have suc the election of General Grant, but which was interrepted by the stringency of the money market, is now at hand. Not that the appreciation on this account can amount to a great deal, for it was discounted long before the election. There is, again, a large speculative demand created by the report, which is pretty well authenticated, that Mr. McCuiloch, in a letter to Mr. Van Dyck, has declared his intention not to seil any more bonds during not the conduct of Mr. McCulloch open to considerable suspicion ever since gold and bond loobing despatches of a ew weeks since, dated at Washington, and supposed to have been concocted in the interest of the Yreasury "ring," this report might be a legitimate eause for a rise in government securities. As it is it may be followed at any moment by secret sales, the profit of the annular gentlemen in the Treasury Department and the loss of the public who may be induced to invest. At this moment, when there is a very natural transfer of money to these securities from the stock market, it has a suspicious look. Why was not this determination come to and the announcement made during the recent strinrency, when great satisfaction would have resulted to the public from a knowledge of the fact that the Treasury was not in the combination to make money tight? It may be wholly an accident, but it is none of a private banking house thus comments upon the government market;—

The "cornering" of '62's has been the important item to-day in the government market, advancing those bonds to 12's at the first board, atout one percent above the closing rate on Saturday. It is removed that the large sales of '62's made within two weeks last past were on "short" account, and that the bonds being scarce for delivery the short interest will be competied to come into the market as boyers to cover their contracts. To anticipate this haders of such contracts have been and are large buyers, and the outside peblic have caught the fever, and being free ouyers, advanced the price with the expectation that the shorts will take their bonds. The Newtondiand hoe is reported down, and therefore we have nothing lo-day by chies. Last advices quoted five-awences in London at 13's, which lays them down here at about 100's, or a 1's per continues.

REAL ESTATE MAITERS.

There were no public sales of real estate vester day, and as a consequence the feeling in the market has not changed since last quotations. We are now approaching a period in the year when operations are mostly limited to what are known as legal sales, the natural failing off in all sorts of speculative enterprise, consequent upon the actiement of yearly accounts, appearing in reduced activity here as in other departments of business. It is not just yet, however, some important sales, mostly of unimproved properly, occurring previously, as per aumouncement. Succeeding this approaching duiness, occupied with the examination of the year's investments and the drawing of balances of profit or loss, and extending to at least the middle of January, great activity is looked for. approaching a period in the year when operations

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now that the Lunatic Asylum in Columbus, Ohlo, has been destroved by fire, there is a loud cry for more water by the papers of that city.

Thomas L. Carson, publisher of the State League, in Syracuse, a temperance advocate, died on the 21st

Mr. Henry J. Haight was recently married to Miss Jennie Love, in a Western town. This is changing love to hate with uncommon colority.

IMMIGRATION.

A Day at Castle Garden—Eighteen Hundred Immigrants in Two Days—The Burens of Information—Busy Life—Affecting and Curious Scenes.

A day spent at the Castle Garden Emigrant depot is time instructively employed. The thousands that pour into our city through this port from all parts of the Old World present a kaleidoscope of life in all its phases, and the scenes that often occur are amusing and at times affecting and even harrassing. Especially is this the case when six ship loads of immigrants have accumulated from Saturday night over Sunday, and all have to be despatched on Monday.

NUMBER OF IMMIGRANTS SINCE SATURDAY NIGHT. There have arrived in all, until last evening, six vessels with immigrants—three steamers and three sailing vessels. The steamship Columbia, from Glasgow, brought 105 passengers, 5 in the caoin and 101 in the steerage. Of the latter 53 were from Ireland, 43 from Scotland, 5 from Germany.

The ship Southard, from Autwerp, brought 72 passengers, all from Germany. On the voyage a woman, Catharine Eich, thirty-one years old, suddenly jumped overboard, for what reason is unknown, and was lost. How suggestive of misfortune and mental despair is this act of suicide on the high seas? The steamer William Penn, from Havre and London, brought 501 passengers, of whom 70 were in the first and 43 in the second cabin. Their nationality, indicating the many sources from which this country draws the largest part of its increase in population, is given as follows:—Baden, 149; Prussia, 31; Wurtemberg, 14; Bavaria, 10; Austria, 10; Luxemburg, 38; France, 61; Switzerland, 101; England, 72; Ireland, 8, and Italy, 7. One infant died during the voyage.

The steamship City of Baltimore, from Liverpool, came in with 408 passengers, 42 of whom were in came in with 408 passengers, 42 of whom were in the upper saloon. Of the 366 in the steerage 341 were from England and 25 from Sweden.

The bark-Ataianta, from Bremen, brought 297, all Germans; had two bittas on board and two inflants died. In the ship humboldt, from Hamburg, came 414 in steerage—413 Germans and one American, and two in the cabin. Thus in the two days have arrived 1,500 souls. Since the 1st of November there have in all arrived thirty-one steamships and six saling vessels, bringing immigrants, a further proof that transportation of passengers and generally also of rieight is more and more seeking steam and abandoning its former reliance on "the wild breezes of the ocean."

treight is more and more seeking siseam and abandoning its former reliance on "the wild preezes of the ocean."

THE BURRAU OF INFORMATION.

Since July, 1804, a oureau has been organized by Superintendent Casserly at the depot, called the "Bureau of information." The special business of this bureau is to receive and record the inquiries of friends of expected immigrants, and to direct the latter as they arrive to the addresses left for them, or to deliver them personally to their friends or kindred if they call at the buread. From the scenes which often happen here, and many of which could be witnessed yesterday, the course of immigration may be judged Quite a number of frishmen and Germans expected their wives and children from Europe in some of these vessels, and their recognition as the parents embraced each other, as the little ones cried from joy and cluing to their father, were in truth affecting. Servant girls were waiting to receive a brother or sister or an aged mother or father, some even their whole families from the "ould country." Interesting it was to converse with these persons. They came here as ploneers, had little or no money on their arrival, but by industrious work and careful economy they succeeded in saving up enouga to send the passage money thither to their loved ones at home, and then with additional labor to enrich the productive power of the country. In two or three cases the young women sent out for young brothers, mere intents, or prisans in Europe. On meeting the little ones did no more recognize their sisters, nor were their names familiar to their loved ones at home, and then with additional labor to enrich the productive power of the country. In two or three cases the young women sent out for young brothers, married in this country since their arrival. But on meaning their family names the faces of the buyen in the family names the faces of the buyen in the additional tabor to enrich the productive progenies at sea from Europe—the Jenny, the American Union and the American Eagle—nour they might be expected to arrive.

RUMERIS SNUMBER.

Occasionally persons present themselves claiming to be friends of young women just arrivel, desiring to take charge of them. Great care is exercised in such cases, and if the party calling cannot fully prove his right to the temporary custody of the girl or girls he is speedily sent away with a very big fica in his ear. Two , such cases occurred in the course of yesterday; but both, who were suspected to be rinners, or perhaps something worse, were unsuccessful in their endows. The officers of the fureau say that at first the owners of dance houses and similar piaces made every effort to obtain control of young, likely girls as they arrive, and hence the most minute inquiries are resorted to before the immigrants, particularly women, are delivered to persons calling themselves "friends."

A HARD CASE.

calls and also to Worcester and will help him to get off upon the receipt of an answer.

AN EXTRACTIONARY ERQUEST.

Towards the close of business hours an excited individual rushed in, and stating that he had arrived in the Hammonia a few days ago, named a fellow passenger who, he claimed, stole 500 from him. The accused, he said, would call at the Bureau in search of a friend, yet to arrive, and he wanted him arrested at once. He was informed that the Bureau of Information was no court nor a police station, and very much disappointed and evidently angered, he dejarted.

BOLD BANK ROBBERY IN DETROIT.

A Thief Enters a Hank Durling Business Hours, Grabs a Pile of Money and Decamps.

(From the Detroit Post, Nov. 21.)

The thieves of Detroit do not rank in skill below their rival cracksmen in other cities, and last evening made a signal display of their coolness, shrewdness and bodness. At a quarter before six, when the sireets were filled with people going home from their shops and stores, the banking house of Messers.

$500 in Canada bills in the following manner:—On the outer edge of the counter stands a thickly woven from network, the top of which was something higher than the head of the robber. At soveral places there are breaks in this lattice work where business is to be transacted. The visitor went to one of these places nearest the door, and there stood the banker, behind whom on a table lay the stamps. The money lay behind the forcean, and while the banker turned about to the table to get the stamps the thief leaped lightly upon the counter, reached his hand down to the pile of bank bills, and grabbing a lot made for the door. His movements were discovered a moment too late for anything but pursuit, which was immediate though not continued, since the banker could not leave the rest of his treasure behind unlocked and unguarded doors. Before aid could be got the thief ran up the stairway on the Woodward avenue, disappearing in the crowd which thronged the sidewalk. He has visited the bank several times before and his face is known. The plans were well laid, for the banker mentioned had been alone in the room but a short time when the thief called.
